

First of all, I pay for my XM services! Next people will take away our internet and cable television privledges! I personally find the XM instant traffic and weather channels very helpful. Where else are you going to be able to hear a traffic report every couple of minutes to be current and up to date as your driving in the middle of the day. On regular radio all you get is durring rush hour! People drive durring "non- rush hour" times also, as do accidents occur. Since XM radio is through a satellite, if you are driving on a road trip somewhere you can check in advance, before reaching your destination, and see how the traffic and weather are looking just before you get there. That is, if you didn't want to pull over in the middle of your trip, go to kinko's and pay to use thier internet service. Of course you don't! If AM and FM radio won't improve thier broadcasts that's not our fault. That's why you pay for the quality of XM satellite radio, and I love it! !!
